The Curfew Law

The city now has a curfew for persons under the age of 17 . . .

What does the law say?
The Juvenile Curfew Act of 2002 states that persons under the age of 17 cannot remain on a street, in a park or other outdoor public place, in a vehicle, or on the premises of any establishment during the curfew hours, unless they are involved in certain activities.

What are the curfew hours?
Curfew begins at 11:00 P.M. and continues until 6:00 A.M. the following day.

How will the law be enforced?
Anyone under the age of 17 who violates curfew will be detained by the Metropolitan Police Department. Officers will attempt to take the juvenile home (or to the home of a relative or a responsible adult), or contact a parent, legal guardian, or other responsible adult to pick up the child.

A parent or guardian of a juvenile under the age of 17 commits an offense if he or she knowingly permits or, by insufficient control, allows the minor to violate the curfew law. Any adult who violates the Juvenile Curfew Act is subject to a fine not to exceed $500 or to community service. A minor who violates curfew may be ordered to perform up to 25 hours of community service.

What activities are exempted from the law?
Persons under the age of 17 do not violate the law during curfew hours if they are:

- Accompanied by a parent or guardian or any person aged 21 or older.
- Working or returning home from a job.
- Involved in an emergency.
- Attending an officially sponsored high school, religious, or recreational activity sponsored by a group that takes responsibility for the juvenile.
